MANY CAN NOW SAY "IT'S OUR COMPANY"

Did you get your quota of the Ford Motor Company recent issue of stock?

The popular distribution of 10,200,000 shares in this, one of the largest of this country's industries, provoked much widespread interest throughout the nation. The largest stock offering in financial history, it marked the termination of the policy of keeping this great institution's resources in the hands of one family.

In recent years, the trend has been to disperse the holdings of stock in such industries into the hands of small investors, as well as to finance with extensive means. So with this offering of the Ford stock, sales were made in small blocks in order to divide ownership among as many people as possible. This makes it common practice to rub elbows on the street with the owners of the country's various types of industries.

Means, too, that the judgment of thousands of buyers and sellers will determine the day-to-day market price of the great American industry, whose products too are so widely distributed and so commonly used. Legions of people who follow the fortunes of the Ford issue will also learn — if they do not already know — how the prices of any publicly-held stock are established in a free enterprise economy.

In order to put the Ford Motor Company stock on the public market a figure of valuation had to be decided upon. This was based on the company's sales, prospects, assets and other relevant factors. $64.50 a share was the price set by the experts, with the Securities and Exchange Commission concurring. No man, nor group of men, can hold it at any certain figure. It may go up, it may go down, determined by trading conditions.

Anyway, it is now a fact that little men, and big ones too, can share in the fortunes and fates of another great and popular enterprise, just as all classes and types of lay consumers share in the ownership of the transportation facilities provided by the big organization.

EXISTING HIGHWAYS NEED ATTENTION

With all the clamor that we hear today about improving the super highways of the country, we are beginning to wonder if some of the rural people are going to be able even to get to the main arteries of traffic. Will all of the people's resources, available for this type of highway construction, be spent for making the main roads faster, and maybe safer.

We have existing roads from farm to market, and even some of the main trunk lines, that with some improvement could be made safer and better with comparatively small outlays of the public funds. A little more speed on such roads as these and less speed on some of the super highways should make for improvement in the nation's traffic picture generally.

It would seem that it's time to give consideration to the curbing of speed in many of the main thoroughfares. Signs relating to speed limits will scarcely accomplish the purpose. About the only place for actual control is in the propelling mechanisms of the vehicles in use. That human element at the steering wheel, the fellow who opens up the throttle, in too many instances is not responsible.

Contributing to the safety and convenience of the people who travel short distances every day in traffic's more local phase is something that is calling for more and more attention on the part of highway authorities. Super highways may serve the overall public to a limited extent on the long runs, so to speak, but for a more universal type of safety and travel service, the existing roads should receive more consideration and a larger portion of the tax revenues.

Congressmen representing the rural areas should be alert and ready to present the case for the rural highways. And for the general public welfare along this line of their public service.

TAX RELIEF OR DISCRIMINATION

The State Administration seems to have taken a page from the National Administration in its tax program. For the past three years we have seen tax relief given to those who can most afford to pay taxes while the fellow who has the least has had no relief. It seems to us that the government is big business and several changes have been made which allows big business to find tax relief in the method of figuring depreciation and other loopholes have been opened in the tax laws.

Now, the governor of our state replies to those who would try to help the tobacco farmer by removing one cent from the tax on cigarettes that this is no time to cut taxes. In the same breath he announces his support of a movement to remove the taxes on gamblers, a support that seems to us as just another indication that government is little interested in the average taxpayer who is not a part of any big pressure group.

The Governor says that he has reached an agreement with the race track owners whereby they will contribute $300,000 each year to privately supported schools. Most, if not all, of these schools are church supported. We have seen no report as to how these schools feel about the Governor's plan but we hope they will have sufficient convictions and courage to announce that they will have no part of such a scheme.

If tax relief is to be given, let's give it where it is most needed. Bettors on horse races do not as a usual thing have to worry about declining farm prices and advancing prices on anything they the farmer buys.

Go back a few weeks, Governor, and read your campaign speeches which contained so much criticism of Mr. Benson. — Breckinridge News.

The National Federal Farm Bureau, youngest of all farm organizations, is the largest because it is built on the right principle. It is a membership organization because better farming and not at the expense of any other group. While its membership is limited to actual farmers, its influence should extend to another group not now represented, the consumers. The object of both these groups is similar. The Farm Bureau members want to produce at the least cost. The consumer wants to buy at the least cost. If these two groups combine they can make their influence felt on Congress. — Frederick (Okla.) Press.

THE JEFFERSONIAN

Approval of a vast bond issue to include highway construction and needed school facilities is being given consideration by Gov. A. Chandler.

The proposal includes a possible $200,000,000 for highway construction, assuming sufficient federal funds are allocated on the basis of a 9-to-1 matching program; $100,000,000 for construction of public elementary and high schools, and $50,000,000 for construction of college facilities, that would include a medical school at the University of Kentucky.

The bond issue topic will be submitted to the second of a series of special sessions to be called. First in the special sessions will deal with reorganization problems — while the second will deal with a general public improvement program devoted to the highway and school construction program.

The figure of an $350,000,000 overall outlay is entirely tentative. Consideration also is being given to providing an adequate sinking fund for retirement of the indebtedness — inasmuch as the Constitution limits such issues to a 30-year period and requires the levy of a sufficient tax to cover retirement within that period.

Kentucky's general fund receipts for the first seven months of the present fiscal year totaled $52,152,064 — or a lead of 7.7 per cent over the previous fiscal year's collections.

Increases were noted in individual income, distilled spirits production and property tax receipts. It was estimated by the Department of Revenues that the collections for the present year might reach $80,000,000, a 10 per cent increase over the last year's total of $73,000,000.

Road fund receipts for the July through January period were $36,550,349 — up 10.3 per cent over last year.

Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled that Roman Catholic schools may teach the public school system of the state while cladding in the garb of their religious education, without violating the Constitution of the state.

The court's opinion, — a six to one decision — prepared by Judge J. P. Sims, Bowling Green, affirmed on all major points the ruling of Franklin Circuit Court, W. B. Ardrey, Jr., in the controversy and ordered:

We find no provisions of the Federal or State Constitution which are violated by Sisters teaching, or wearing religious garb, uniforms, or wearing their salaries in the various school boards renting buildings from the Roman Catholic Church in which to conduct public schools.

A dissenting opinion was presented by Justice Arthur Hugh Harlan, who wrote:

"By no stretch of the imagination, is it the duty of the Sisters to teach in our public schools. Let these Sisters, when in the schools, exchange their religious habits and insignia for dress or garment that is without distinctive suggestion and which does not hint of religious character in action, and I shall be the first to approve."

Commissioner of Revenue J. E. Luckett announced appointment of Aubrey H. Childers, Louisville, to become director of the Income Division, effective March 1, to replace Richard J. Sullivan, resigned.

Children, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for state treasurer, is director of the Motor Vehicle Division. He will be succeeded in this post by Morris Williams, long-time departmental employee.

Commissioner of Insurance Cud P. Thurman called for a "fire safety" to assure Kentucky policyholders of the soundness of Texas insurance firms doing business in Kentucky. The step was taken due to recent disclosures that some Texas firms had gone bankrupt, and to re-assure the insuring public.

Now, the insurance companies would be required to post bonds sufficient to cover annual premiums of each company.

SPEAKER FOR SCOUT DIVISION ANNOUNCED

Stuart Levy, Jr., chairman of the local Boy Scout Special Events Committee has announced that Commander T. J. Keane, U.S.N.R., has been selected speaker for the Old Kentucky Home Council's Annual Scouters' Dinner, to be held Monday, February 27 at International Harvester Co. Auditorium, Louisville.

Commander Thomas J. Keane, U.S.N.R., former national director of civic relationships was one of the veteran members of the national staff of the Boy Scouts of America. He entered scouting in Chicago in 1921 and was appointed the first national director of sea scouting in 1924.

Then there was the shoe shine boy who when a customer remarked about the overcast day said, "I noticed. Been day busy shining!"

LOOKING BACK THROUGH THE JEFFERSONIAN FILES

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home and contents of Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Stivers, formerly of Jeffersontown, at Jay, county seat of Delaware County, Oklahoma. The damage was estimated at $3,500, partially covered by insurance. Stivers was county attorney of Delaware County.

Part of the loss was a compilation of Cherokee Indian history and folklore that belonged to Mrs. Stivers. She was writing a book on the subject.

Arrangements were nearing completion for presentation of a comedy drama, "The Corner Store," by the Lynchburg Country Club. Members of the cast were Eli Wheeler, D. Boyd, Mrs. George Renneisen, Fred C. Boss, Harvey Barton, Roy Keal, Dora Barton, and Viola Senior, Carl Vandoren, John Eberhardt, Miss Viola Thompson and Raymond Boss.

George Renneisen was stage manager, Frank Boss, electrician, and William Rueff, make up man.

An auction sale to dispose of livestock and farming equipment at the home of Coon P. Kaiser at Vernon Lane and Bardston Road, near Buechel, was advertised for March 2, Kaiser decided to quit farming after accepting a position in Louisville.

Dr. Loomis C. Blanton, 33, for several years a physician in the Koomsdaale area, died of complications in his residence at Blanton Station on Eighteenth Street Road, following an illness of six months.

The marriage of Miss Fannie Mae LaFollette, Valley Station, and Virgil H. LaFollette, Louisville, was solemnized by the Rev. B. H. Bush, uncle of the bride, in his home at Valley Station.

William B. Belknap, Goshen, was re-elected vice president of the Falls Cities Cooperative Milk Producers' Association. Other officers were R. A. Thompson, Shelby County, vice president, and R. L. Duncan, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Ed Neal, Wilsonville, was recuperating from an operation for appendicitis performed at Deaconess Hospital. She planned to stay with her daughter, Mrs. James Russell, a few days before returning home.

Three armed bandits robbed Mr. and Mrs. L. Robinson in their store at Lyndon of cash and jewelry.

Bro. Murry Key, of Clifton Heights Methodist Church, Louisville, who always comes to the home on the third Sunday was in a meeting Sunday so he asked one of his friends from Penile to hear of Mr. L. R. Truax's account. The visitors brought candy for the residents.

At the home we were all sorry to hear of Mr. L. R. Truax's accident. Glad he wasn't seriously hurt and hope we will soon be bright again.

Mr. Stanton Barnes, who was a resident of the home here for some time, died at the General Hospital last Friday. His body was taken to Bardston for funeral and burial.

Lieutenant Washington from the Salvation Army visited us last Monday.

We want to thank Martha Wolf and all the other girls for checks amounting to $100 and escaped in an automobile. Before departing, the bandits tore loose the telephone connections.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Former President Truman wrote in Life that Stevenson would have received three million more votes had he declared in January instead of July 1952. If this had been true, Stevenson would have been president instead of Eisenhower. If Stevenson had been elected President, Eisenhower would not have had a heart attack. If Eisenhower would not have had a heart attack, we would not have to worry about Nixon. If Nixon had not been vice president, he would not have to offer 1,000 dollars to prove that he didn't call Truman a traitor.

Getting back to the shift of three million votes, the truth is that a shift of two million votes from Eisenhower to Stevenson would have placed Stevenson in the White House. On three occasions, in the U.S. a President took office even though he did not receive the largest number of votes. In 1824, John Quincy Adams received 105,321 votes before our President, who had his opponent Andrew Jackson with 155,872 votes and 15 more electoral votes.

In 1876, Rutherford B. Hayes (R) with 4,033,090 and 184 electoral votes won over Samuel J. Tilden with 4,234,371 votes and 184 electoral votes.

In 1888, Benjamin Harrison (R) with 5,443,337 votes and 233 electoral votes won over Grover Cleveland with 5,540,090 votes and 169 electoral votes. Twenty years later that Cleveland (D) came back and won polling only 14 thousand more votes than he did in 1882.

Had two million votes, more voted for Stevenson, in the States of Florida, Washington, Virginia, Texas, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Missouri, Michigan, Tennessee, Maryland and Illinois, and Mr. Stevenson would have received 232 electoral votes and President Eisenhower, 239 electoral votes.

The Republican Party is the party whose slogans are "Peace with Prosperity" in one hand, and "On the Brink of War" in the other hand. Just before President Eisenhower extended the polio vaccine program until June 1957. Had either side or President Truman or Stevenson signed the extension, all cry to heaven would have been made that he was socializing medicine. The A.M.A. and medical profession would have ostracized the president. Not a word of criticism has been raised over extending the polio vaccine program.

In a few months the conventions will meet to nominate candidates for the office of the president. Do these figures have anything to do with the decision to run as far as Stevenson and Eisenhower? The logical thing to do would be to nominate the same men on both parties; but will this be done? The man to watch is Governor Chandler who can beat any man the Republicans put up. He can please both the voters of the State and of the South, and he can set a precedent of being the first man to become president of the U.S. who has served as Governor twice, and U.S. senator twice. With labor, the farmers and independent voters taking a different view than in 1952, it looks like the Democrats are in this fall.

Governor Chandler is to be commended for expressing himself regarding the editorial criticism of the White House in '56 not '60.

CHARLES MCKELSON, Valley Station.

FOR REFLECTION
— WITH JAMES C. INGBERTSEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

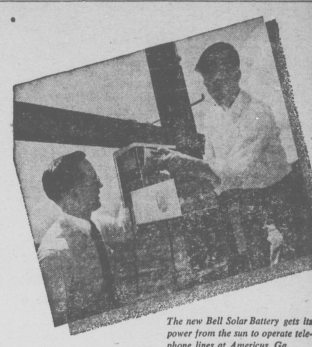

"Far too much in our contemporary art seeks expression without artistry, innovation without purpose."

These are the words of Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review.

If it were only in contemporary art that we had "innovation without artistry, innovation without purpose," it might be argued that everything that government does is without the purpose of getting votes, but, as we heard, the word means a legitimate purpose that of administering justice and so safeguarding freedom.

And it is just here — in government — that innovation without purpose" is not only least justified but also more potentially dangerous than anywhere else. For, in art, we can pick and choose as we will; but, in government, we cannot pick and choose — once a law is passed, it is ours whether we like it or not, unless and until it is repealed.

 Christian School Lesson

 Background Scripture: Luke 16:1-31
 Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 9:1-5

Faithful in Little

Lesson for February 26, 1956

EVERYBODY has some kind of a chance in this world. We all sometimes think we would do better if we had the same chance the next man has; but we may be deceiving ourselves. Jesus tells a story about three men each of whom had the very same chance. Each was given the same sum of money, and told to make what he could out of it. One man increased the money ten times; one multiplied it by five; but the third Dr. Foreman man did not even try. What if he had tried? Considering the sort of man he was, a pessimist and a self-confessed coward, it can be doubted whether he would have been able to do as well as the other two did. At any rate, Jesus calls our attention first of all to the fact that even if everybody had an equal chance, not everybody would do equally well with it.

Gifts of God

We call persons "gifted" when they have some remarkable talent or ability. When we say this, we mean, or we ought to mean, that a man's capacities are not his own invention, they are God's gifts. Two thoughts go together here and must not be separated: the first is that what we have to start with and the opportunities which life brings us along the way, are really gifts of God. The other thought is that God expects us to develop these gifts, take advantage of these opportunities, do something with what we have. Caruso the famous tenor said once, modestly, that he deserved no credit for his magnificent voice. He was born with an extraordinary muscular development in his vocal cords, something possessed by few men. Most men could not be Caruso no matter how hard they try. On the other hand, if all Caruso had done was just to take his throat for granted, never learn singing, never go through the long discipline of the operatic star, the world would never have been thrilled by that golden voice. God's gifts plus our work, that is the divine plan.

Nothing Too Small

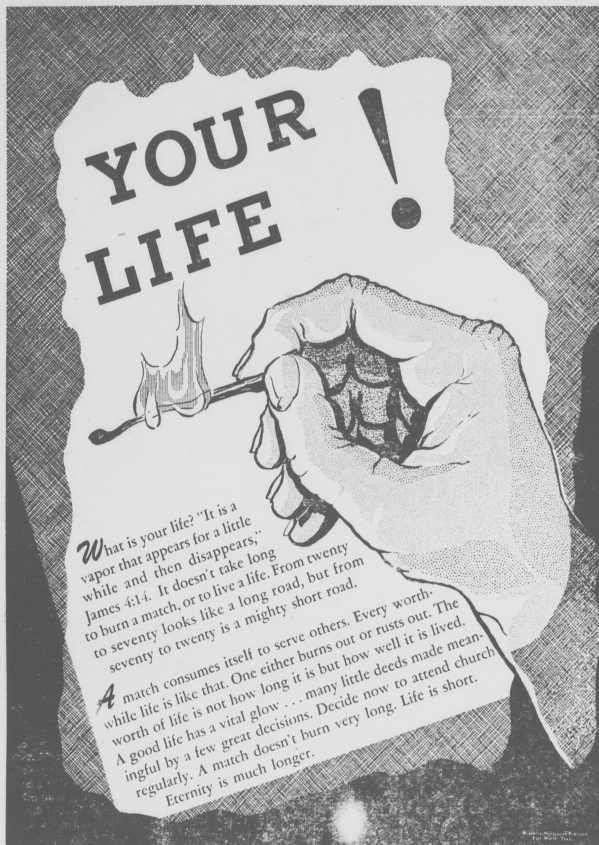

All this is simply the principle which the church calls "stewardship." It is simply recognizing that what God gives us, we are expected to use and make the most of, in his service. The trouble right here is that most of us are rather like that third man in Jesus' parable. We see these big, able people going "great guns," we see what wonderful things others are doing, and we know very well we can't do anything like that . . . so we don't try to do anything. Now it should be noted that in this little story, the returning king does not say to the second man, who made only five pounds, "You rascal, why didn't you make ten like this other man?" On the contrary he is pleased with the man, promotes him. What God really despises is not small results; what he despises is refusing to try. We are not reasonable before God for not being brighter or stronger than we are. We are responsible for what we do with such ability as we have, whether small or great.

In the Church

See how this works out in the life of the church. A superintendent asks a girl to take a children's class. Oh no, she can't do it, she says, backing away. She hasn't had experience, she isn't a professional school teacher, she hasn't had a lot of education, she isn't like that brilliant Mrs. So-and-so who was such a whiz of a Sunday school teacher for twenty years. So what? Suppose she's not a topnotcher? She has had little brothers and sisters, she can learn the Bible, she loves her Savior and she loves children too. Stewardship, for that girl, is not what she can do with Mrs. So-and-so's brains and experience, it's what she is willing to do with her own. Or take a man who is elected to a minor position in the church. He doesn't think he can do much in that office, so he declines it. But the question still is—not, what can he do with an office he doesn't have? But, what will he do with the office he does have? Another man does not contribute to the church because he has next to nothing he can give. He is afraid of comparisons. But God does not ask: How do you compare? Only: Are you faithful?

DOES ONE HAVE TO BE IN THE CHURCH TO BE SAVED?

BY FOREST HURST, MINISTER
OAK GROVE CHURCH OF CHRIST
Oak Grove Road and Thixton Lane

"Who (God) hath delivered us from the power of darkness and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: (Col. 1:13). Two relationships are set forth in this portion of holy scripture. Every responsible person sustains one of these relationships. The power of darkness refers to the state one is in before he becomes a Christian. This relationship is described by many different terms in the word of God. A failure to recognize this truth has led many souls into gross error. The Holy Spirit evidently anticipated such error when He, through Paul, wrote the Colossian epistle.

Paul told these Colossian brethren that they were in the kingdom of God's dear Son. But, he also told them they were "in Christ" (Col. 2:10). He meant that they were sustaining two distinct relationships. No indeed, but, their relationship is described by two expressions. From this truth, we learn the obvious truth that to be in Christ is the same as being in his kingdom. It should not be argued that these brethren were going to be in his kingdom, because they were then in it. The kingdom of Christ comes when Paul wrote the Colossian letter.

It is sometimes insisted that it does not make any difference whether one is in the church or not, just so he is in the kingdom. However, Paul shows in the Colossian epistle that to be in the kingdom is to be in the church. He wrote, "And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body and be ye thankful." (Col. 3:15). Their being in the one body, meant that they were in the one church, the Lord's church. "He is the head of the body, the church." (Col. 1:18). Therefore, they were in the church if they were in the body. Remember also, he said that they were in the kingdom. This does not mean, however, that they were in two different institutions, but rather, it means that the expression, "the church" and the expression, "the kingdom of God's dear son," refer to the same relationship. Obviously, then, the church and the kingdom are the same thing. One cannot say he is in the kingdom of Christ without being in his church. He who does not believe this, does not believe the Bible!

Someone else insists that it does not make any difference whether one is in the church or not, just so he is a blood-bought person. However, the truth of the matter is that one cannot be a blood-bought person without being in the church. His church is not a denomination, nor any part of one. One cannot be in a denomination, and at the same time be subject to Christ. The Colossians were in the church, or kingdom, and this relationship is described with the expression, "And ye are called in one body and be ye thankful." (Col. 3:15). Paul said of those who were in this relationship, "In whom (Christ) we have redemption through his blood, even the

Funeral Held Thursday For A Descendant Of Pioneer County Family

Harry Shively, 94, grandson of the man for whom the city of Shively was named, died at 9:15 a.m. Monday in his home, 4230 Dixie Highway. He lived in one of the city's oldest homes, having been built by his father more than 100 years ago.

Mr. Shively, a member of the Shively Baptist Church, built the first tourist camp along what is now Dixie Highway in 1923. It was a tent camp in the woods and preceded the building of the first cabin-type accommodations by five years.

He was active until about a year ago. Mr. Shively underwent an operation last December and appeared to be on the road to recovery until two weeks ago. His death was hastened by a stroke Monday.

His wife died last August 26, ending a 70-year marital union. Surviving are two sons, Harry B. Shively and William H. Shively; four daughters, Mrs. O. L. Mitchell, Tampa, Fla.; Mrs. Walter C. Nennett, Mrs. Margaret Adams, Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. J. W. Brink; 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Hardy's Shively Funeral Home. Interment was in Louisville Memorial Gardens.

Newburg News

By Mrs. J. H. Shively

There was a very large crowd at church Sunday. Many visitors, yet many of the faithful were absent. Mr. and Mrs. Manley and Ray, Mrs. L. R. Sims, Mrs. May Sellers and Mrs. Calvin Hart, Newburg Church will observe the Week of Compassion. Bro. Simrell preached a very appealing sermon Sunday along this line. Subject, "Seeing With Compassion."

So glad to see the Hamilton

Rigby With Engineer Completing Final Run

Earl M. Rigby, Old Six Mile Lane, Jefferson, a conductor for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, recently was part of a historic railroad event—at least as far as a railroad was concerned.

Rigby was conductor on the Pan-American, one of the railroad's principal passenger trains, that arrived in Louisville with Albert C. Cassidy at the throttle for the last time before the latter's retirement. A picture of the crew, taken at Nashville, before the takeoff, appeared in the February issue of the L. & N. Magazine.

TEEN TIMES

By Emily Oehrlie

Anyone for a "Tube steak"? That is a hot dog in teen talk. What with all the king sized hamburgers sold around this part of the country, you hardly ever hear of the honorable hot dog. Does anyone ever eat a big burger without dripping it all over something? Dripping stuff all over calls for expressions of annoyance such as "oh, duck butter," "bark," "crunch," and of course, oh, schunk! At Aberdeen Proving Ground, when something is perfect, it is "40." The P.X. and the Service Clubs are the "Gedunk." Don't ask us what that means. We just report what we hear.

The story on the front page of last Monday's paper was enough to make the flesh creep. If you are ever riding with characters who drive in opposition to all laws of safety and courtesy, the smart thing to do would be to get out of the car and if necessary walk home. It is time for some kids to wise up and live.

We hear that at the girls-ski-dances, the boys are referring to the dances as "hag-drag." Do you wear knee length socks? In some of the schools the girls are wearing garters in school colors at the tops of the socks. Also, some of the girls are gluing black buttons on their knees just above the sock top.

What happened to boy's red trousers? Have they faded away as the pink shirts did?

We saw a funny picture in a new magazine the other day. It was a picture of a girl who was wearing a low cut dress. It was almost non-existent in the back and her date was standing there wondering where to place his hand when they danced. Years ago, the gentleman held his handkerchief in his hand and placed it on his dancing partner's back as they glided around to the current tune. Believe us, it didn't look like the cha-cha.

Time to stop writing, put in in the air mail and say, "ry it."

— Publicity chairman.

FERN CREEK HIGH

A panel discussion of the "3 D's — Dancing, Drinking and Driving" will feature a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Fern Creek High School at 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 28, in the school auditorium. Members of the Student Council will make up the panel. Parents are urged to be present. — Publicity chairman.

MEDORA

The Medora P.T.A. met Tuesday, February 14, at the school. Although this was a monthly meeting, a very special program was presented and approximately 250 people were present to enjoy it despite the rainy weather.

The local cub scouts from Troop 138, with their leaders, den mothers, and den-chiefs were the guests of the P.T.A. for the evening and they put on a very impressive program, which depicted the various phases of Cub Scout work.

The Rev. Vernon Taylor led the devotional. The pledge of allegiance and the Cub Scout promise were given by the entire troop.

Then a short skit, "Famous Americans," was presented by the members of Den No. 2.

As the recreational phase of cub scout work several competitive games were played with different dens competing. Several awards for achievement were presented by the leaders. Four boys were initiated into the troop as "Bob Cats." Their parents were present and participated in the initiation.

The den mothers had made an excellent arrangement of various articles which the Cubs of the different dens have made.

The people of the Medora Community are fortunate in having adult leadership in citizens who are willing to give their time and effort to the very constructive activities which are promoted in cub scout work.

After the program refreshments were served and a social hour was spent visiting with each other, and enjoying the Cub Scout exhibit.

LYNDON

Six past presidents of the Lyndon Parent-Teachers Association were special guests at the Founders Day meeting, February 21 in the school auditorium. They are Mrs. Edward Borie, Mrs. Martin Yochim, Mrs. Carl Thomas, Mrs. Frank Barth, Jr., Mrs. Clay Morris and Mrs. Earl Gray.

A special program, "Guard Well Thy Trust," was presented under the direction of the program committee chairwoman by Mrs. Tom Hodge. The program and business meeting were followed by a silver tea.

Miss Margaret Clayton, supervisor of junior high schools for the Jefferson County Board of Education, addressed the final study group session of the association, February 23.
